AFFCO Profit Planner:

- is a computer program specially designed for fruit growers to take the guesswork out of growing
- assists in making the crucial "what if" decisions, that come with running a horticultural business
- is highly successful in comparing fruit blocks and comes with built in real life scenarios relevant to Australian horticultural conditions and standards
- provides a number of crop variety budgets, for various timelines in production, right up to full production
- has data for budgets that have been drawn from a range of growers across Australia
